The University of Colorado, College of Nursing is seeking a faculty mid-wife to serve as a consultant to help reconfigure a Midwifery Fellowship at the University of Colorado, College of Nursing into a Junior Faculty Development Fellowship aimed at mentoring black, indigenous, and persons of color within the CU Nursing midwifery faculty. The ideal candidate will themselves will be Black, Indigenous and/or a Person of Color.

Minimum Qualifications: include having experience practicing as a full-scope midwife as well as experience in academics (either before or after certification as a midwife).

Compensation: Stipend of $2,000 for duration of project.

To apply, please email letter of interest and CV to CON.HR@ucdenver.edu by 11/02/2021.

Goals of Project

Develop a Junior Faculty Development Fellowship aimed at:
- Recruiting BIPOC midwives and mentor as Junior Faculty
- Promote retention within academic midwifery
- Develop Faculty skills; Clinical, Scholarship, Research, Service
- Provide Structured Mentorship
- Incorporate the curricular domains listed by the ACNM Postgraduate Fellowship domains into the curriculum.
- Seek funding to support salary/expenses of Fellowship

Consultant will be responsible for organizing meetings with key stakeholders, leading meetings, partnering in the development of the Program Proposal for Fellowship, vetting all material with the ACNM Midwives of Color Committee, as well as other duties as assigned.